Components and preparation method for Vital Honey

Since Caviar is sensitive and perishable, a group of Japanese scientists, specialized in vital nutrition has come up with a creative way to restore and maintain it, by drying the eggs of Sturgeon “Caviar” by drying it, which is somewhat a complicated process and done by exposure to a temperature produced by a certain light wave, in special occasions, for many days, and after cooling it with dry air, it is grinded in special machinery with glass fibers, designed for this purpose, to maintain the nutritional and therapeutic features of Caviar to support men’s sexual abilities.

I Royal Honey also added the well calculated extract of the famous Malaysian herb called Eurycoma longifolia, which is famous for improving sexual performance. They also added cinnamon extract, which is filled with minerals and oils that revives the senses and support cells with important energy for metabolism.

Elderly

The elderly suffer from a weakness in the production of testosterone and damage to the nerves and cells as a result of age, in addition to diseases such as diabetes, high blood pressure and cholesterol, which inhibit and reduce sexual performance, therefore unable to function sexually, and are referred to by:

- Weakness in erection as a result of cells' aging, especially after the age of 45.
- Loss to sexual desire due to the inability of physically performing the act.
- They become vulnerable to psychological setbacks that may turn into a form of a depression that leads to other illnesses.

Youth

Studies showed that 60% of young people suffer from dysfunction in terms of sexual performance ” here, we’re not just referring to ED, but also disorders in the sexual function, such as premature ejaculation, the inability to reach orgasm, or impotency ” these disturbing symptoms are evident through several indicators, some of which:

- Premature ejaculation, due to the vitality of the young, and the quick response of women’s sense organs.
- Short duration of intercourse without reaching orgasm, which causes psychological setbacks for both partners.
- Another issue is that many young people have the efficient sexual abilities

How did the product earn the VIP title?

Caviar is one of the richest natural sources of omega-3 and phosphorus, and a vast array of minerals, proteins and amino acids needed for metabolism and cell metabolism. These qualities caused it to earn the satisfaction of a large group of people who became interested in the vitality and health of their bodies, both sexually and physically. Japanese people, known as “the fertile people” where ranked at the top, in terms of their interest in this vital fortune, They are also valuing the importance of being sexually healthy, so they use all natural sources to achieve that, one of these sources is sturgeon, but since it is very expensive, seasonal, or canned “which is the unpleasant kind for Caviar lovers”. So, it was a competition between scientific research centers to create ways to help preserve it without losing its therapeutic features and utilize it to help a large sum of people interested in it, The Japanese Vital Center succeeded in creating a healthy scientific way to turn Caviar from a perishable substance, into an effective one, that lasts for years, while maintaining all its features. At our Malaysian company ” Does vital”, we added Caviar in its new form, our honey product, to give the best results in terms of improving men’s sexual abilities.
